ACSI Booking: simple and fair

The world is changing. And we are changing with it. Now that the Internet has given consumers almost unlimited access to information, it has become much easier to compare and choose. It's important to be there where the decision is made.

We became known as the campsite specialist because of the extensive, independent campsite information we collect every year. Large campsites, small campsites, luxurious campsites, simple campsites; we visit and inspect them all. Thanks to our successful websites and apps, we are in direct contact with more than 20 million camping enthusiasts who make their choices based on our information. Of course not everyone finds their campsite on the internet. We are printing more campsite guides than ever, and campers also find their favourite destination through trade fairs and travel agencies.

But online searching and booking, on smartphones and tablets as well as computers, has become a habit and is growing among all target groups. With ACSI, campers can find out all about a campsite. They can filter on some two hundred amenities and services, so it is only logical that they can also find out if there is any availability, and how much it would cost to stay there. We help potential guests find their way. To your campsite.

We want our reach and your range to reinforce each other. With ACSI Booking we bring campsites and campsite guests together. Better and faster.

With kind regards,

Ramon van Reine
Director ACSI
